Global Changes That Affect All Applications

Case: 47482 Ability to test email messages in the communication center

Added a "Test" button to the email dialog of the Communication Center. This will send a copy of the email that is being composed to the email address of the logged in user so they can see what it looks like before sending it for real.

Case: 47589 Advanced Options - ability to move more than one row at a time

On the Advanced Options tab, when dragging and dropping columns around to change their display order, users can now CTRL+click to highlight multiple columns before dragging if they want to move a group of columns all at once.

Case: 47638 Loading a Pinned Report when saved filter value has ' in it

Fixed a bug when loading a Pinned Report if one of the saved filter values contained a single ' quote character.

Case: 47766 FireFox - Display issue with drop down field controls

Fixed a minor display issue with dropdown lists introduced in the latest version version of Firefox (84.0.2).
